

Besides providing me with a world-class music education and one-on-one instruction from each of the professors, BBC taught me how to think and how to relate theology to music. If you're looking for a school that provides both a good music education and a good Bible education all in one place, the BBC music department is the place for you."

Make a difference

With an ever increasing desire to see corporate worship made in accord with lives changed by the work of God, churches are seeking worship leaders who are competent musicians and able to lead the contemporary church in meaningful worship.

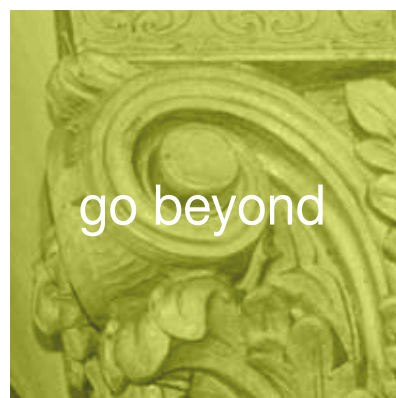

Our professors are committed to your musical training as well as your personal and spiritual growth and your development into an effective worship pastor, and capable church musician.

Prepare to lead

- Experienced professors who build into your life.
- A balance of classroom and hands-on learning.
- The skills and experience it takes to be a global Christian leader.

Learn to encourage biblical and God focused worship in an ever-changing worship environment.

*It's more than where you want to go to college.
It's where you want to go in life.*

go beyond

In the BBC Department of Music, respect for the past and a consciousness of current trends both permeate our approach to musical pedagogy and professional development. This gives our whole department core strength between specialization and general musicianship.” David McGrew, Assistant Professor and Chair of the Worship Pastor program

BUILD SKILLS

We give you a strong foundation to understand and apply biblical truth through 42 hours of Bible and theology courses. A required set of General Studies courses supplements that foundation and enables you to consider the world in which you will minister.

You will then build on this foundation with 40 credit hours studying the specific disciplines of your field and determining how you can best apply your unique strengths, gifts, and abilities. The core courses of this program include the following:

Core Courses

- Introduction to Music and Worship
- Worship Leading Workshop
- Foundations and Issues in Worship
- Worship Presentation
- Introduction to Music and Culture
- Hymnology and Worship Resources
- Aural Skills
- Music Theory (Musicianship)
- Dynamics of Discipleship
- Personal Life of a Ministry Leader
- Private Music Instruction

Prepare for the future

The Worship Pastor program will ground you in the truths of the Word of God. A combination of challenging coursework, faculty mentorship and ministry experience will equip you to teach, disciple, and lead from a biblical worldview, connecting biblical truth to the attitudes, choices, and practices of worship. As a student in the program, you will have the opportunity for hands-on experience as you participate in BBC’s One Accord, Chamber Singers, or Concert Chorale, and other musical groups, all of which appear off-campus in concert tours.

You can also apply your education by becoming involved in opportunities to lead worship on campus, in local churches, Christian schools, camps and retreats. BBC is recognized as one of the top ministry schools in the country and our graduates are in high demand. With a strong foundation in worship studies and music as well as theology, principles of ministry, and leadership you will be equipped to step into full-time ministry, serve on a mission field, or continue on into a program at Baptist Bible Seminary.
